

IN THE GRIP EPIDEMIC

BY

Dr. Cyrus Edson, of New York Health Department, and
Dr. LIBERMANN,
Surgeon-General of the French Army.

H. Libermann, M. D., Surgeon-General of the French Army, in an article on "La Grippe" (Influenza), recommends the following brog: "One third goblet of Vin Mariani, with two-thirds boiling water, cloves and cinnamon, and with or without sugar, makes a grog of exquisite flavor, which produces immediate beneficial effect in severe cases of cold, attended by convulsive coughing and depression. It is best taken at bed time. In the grip epidemics in France it was the tonic absolutely relied upon, and has received frequent deserved mention in the Medical Press. It has been shown that patients recover very slowly, there is much general weakness and lassitude, invariably calling for something in the nature of a mild tonic stimulant, and it has been found that Mariant Wine is unequalled in such cases."

Dr. Cyrus Edson of the New York Health Department has made a careful study of the subject in his book on "La Grippe," published by Appleton & Co. On page 31 he writes of Vin Mariant and calls special attention to it in the form of a hot grog. In speaking of the complete prostration accompanied by the depression caused by this disease, and also during entire convalescence, his preference for a tonic stimulant is a hot grog of Vin Mariant. He says it is excellent for the purpose intended, and recommends its use freely. The remedy is simple and within easy reach of all who suffer from this dreaded disease.

A book with further explicit details will be written by Mariant & Co., 52 West 14th St., New York, and one who writes requesting the same. It is certainly well worth writing for.

Comédie Française is to be tried in England. The Comedians are in an adaptation made by Charles D'Amboise, a Canadian, of the play "L'Amant de Socrate" before the play was brought to the stage in London. It was first produced in Sydney. E. S. Willard's "Sir Roger de Coverley" is not the first play to put Addison's name on the bill. The Comedians of the Boston Trianon wrote a play on the subject and called it "The Comedians of the Trianon." Another play dealing with the same hero and written by James Miller for Mary Stuart, was produced at the Lyceum in 1881 and the retirement of Gibbs, who was to have played the part of Addison, was the cause of its failure. In an article on the same subject in the Illustrated London News, Mr. Robertson has declined to produce "David and Addison" and Mr. Northcote has declined to produce a play on the subject by the English poet for George Alexander, and the actor after will make this much-desired drama a feast of his next season. Mr. Phillips, who was formerly on the stage, acted as the author of the play. The actress, Miss Lydia Thompson is now a confirmed invalid, and it is not thought that she will ever improve. Her daughter, Zella Tibbys, who was so much interested in the play, is now married.

judged by her the other day that her recovery was thought doubtful. She was burned by the explosion of a spirit lamp.

MAY GET BACK HIS OLD CHURCH.
Report That the Rev. Dr. Burtzell Is to Return to New York.

It is reported in Roman Catholic circles in this city that the Rev. Dr. Richard Lawlor Burtzell, who in 1891 was removed by Archbishop Corrigan from the rectorship of the Church of the Epiphany, Second avenue and East Tenth street, is likely to be reappointed to his former charge to fill the vacancy caused by the death, last week, of the Rev. Dr. Peter J. Prendergast. When Dr. Burtzell was sent to Rondout, Dr. Prendergast was made his successor as rector of the Epiphany parish.

Dr. Burtzell, who was formerly pastor of the Rev. Dr. Edward McGlynn in that priest's controversy with Archbishop Corrigan and worked assiduously in the interest of his client. It was said at the time of Dr. Burtzell's removal from a prominent city charge to a country pastor, that the order of the despatching that he was thus disciplined because of the activity and energy he manifested in defence of Dr. McGlynn.

Although Dr. Burtzell obeyed the command of Archbishop Corrigan and at once began his duties at Rondout, it is said that he has since made a vigorous protest to Rome against his removal from the Epiphany Church, His former parishioners, too, flocked to their old pastor's assistance in his exile, and did everything in their power to bring him back to them. They sent a petition to the Apostolic Delegate at Washington, Mr. Satoli, begging that he would intercede with the Holy See. The Delegate and the authorities at Rome, who were also addressed in Dr. Burrill's behalf, decided the case in favor of Archbishop Corman.

Once the case was settled, although against Dr. Burrill, he did not lose heart. He made every effort to get back to his New York church. The fact that the Epiphany Church rectorship is vacant, and that the Epiphany Church members have revived talk of his coming back to the church, shows that Dr. Burrill and the archbishop have not completely severed their ties. That his restoration to his old position is still being discussed, and that he is still in the hearts of those in whom it is, is shown by the following account of a meeting of the Epiphany Archdiocesan Council announced by Dr. Burrill. He had given $500 to endow a scholarship in the Epiphany school, and the council, which was founded by the archbishop and in which he has no voice, has decided to award the scholarship. Later the archbishop went to Kansas and officiated at the Epiphany celebration of the golden jubilee of Dr. Burrill's ordination to the priesthood. He is regarded by well-informed Catholics as interested in the Epiphany church.

olic ecclesiastical circles in New York as it has not prevailed in years.

Dr. Burtzell has been so successful as a pastor in Rondout, where he is highly esteemed by Protestants and Catholics alike, that some of his friends believe he may not desire to return to New York, even if the archbishop offers him the incumbency of the Epiphany rectory. As a recognition of his work at Rondout Archbishop Corrigan promoted Dr. Burtzell to the immovable rectoryship of his parish there. By this appointment Dr. Burtzell has the privilege of remaining at his present post as long as he desires, for, unlike an
